CITY TO PURCHASE WHITE FIRE TRUCK

BID OF COMPANY TO SUPPLY THE AUTO TRUCK FOR $5,000 ACCEPTED.

WILL BE MODERN AFFAIR

Councilmen Also Discuss a Street Flusher—To Visit Oregon Factory.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.
Passed a resolution instructing Commissioner Gannon and City Attorney Mark Keller to enter into a contract with the White Motor Co. to purchase their auto fire truck, the proposal of $5,000 for the machine being accepted.

Discussed advisability of purchasing a street flusher, and accepted invitation of the Etnyre Engine Co. of Oregon to visit their plant and inspect their flushers.

Over Mayor Brinton's veto and the protest that automobile fire trucks are not perfect and are uncertain the commissioners of Dixon at their regular meeting this morning accepted the proposal of the White Motor Co. to furnish a truck for $5,000 and instructed Commissioner M. J. Gannon and City Attorney Mark Keller to prepare a contract and specifications for the new machine which will put Dixon's fire department on a par with those of other cities of this size. Mayor Brinton stated that he thought $5,000 was too much money to expend for a machine which he said was nowhere near perfect, and he voted against it. However, Commissioners Gannon, Schmidt and Van Bibber were strong for the addition and Commissioner Schuler voted for the resolution, but not until he said he was afraid of an auto truck on some of the hills of Dixon, and expressed a fear that someone might get hurt.

A Modern Truck.

The truck, the purchase of which is now assured, is considered by Mr. Gannon, Mr. VanBibber and Fire Marshal Tom Coffey to be the best suited to Dixon's needs. It will be equipped with a six-cylinder 60 h. p. engine, two 35-gallon chemical tanks, 200 feet of hose for the chemicals, two 35-foot extension ladders, roof ladders, axes, pikes, lanterns, self starter, double pneumatic tires, a body capable of carrying from 1200 to 1500 feet of hose, and will be long and rangy to prevent capsizing, the wheel base being 152 inches. The two chemical tanks are provided instead of one tank of larger capacity because of the saving of this arrangement and effect of cost in chemicals, for whenever a chemical tank is opened all of the contents must be used.

About Street Flusher.

Mr. Smith, representing the Etnyre Engine Co. of Oregon was present at the meeting of the council in the interest of street flushers made by the firm and he invited the councilmen to visit their factory at his company's expense and look over their product. The great amount of brick work that will be laid here by next spring makes a flusher necessary for sanitary reasons and doubtless such a machine will be purchased during the winter, as three of the commissioners have committed themselves to that move. The invitation of the Oregon firm was accepted and probably the commissioners will go to that city Friday. The concern uses a gasoline engine with centrifugal pump to furnish pressure instead of compressed air as is used in many places.

Water and Gas.

The gas question was discussed by the commissioners and residents of the south part of the city, where the water pressure has been so low, according to their statements, that they could not get water at any time, were advised by the council not to pay their water rental until pressure is forthcoming. In the meantime Mr. Brinton promised to write some more letters to the utilities companies.

The W. C. O. F. will meet at St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock to attend the funeral of Mrs. Levi.

MRS LEVI DIED ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

FUNERAL OF BELOVED DIXON WOMAN TO BE HELD TUESDAY MORNING.

Mrs. Abraham J. Levi, who has been a resident of Dixon for many years, passed away at her home, 422 E. Third street, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, death resulting from a complication of ailments from which she had suffered for some time. The funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday at 9:30 a. m., and at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock, Father Foley officiating. Interment will be at Oakwood.

Catherine Plein was born at Their, Germany, Feb. 8, 1855, where she lived until 1873, when she came to America. She was united in marriage to Abraham J. Levi on Jan. 27, 1880, and is survived by her husband, two sons, Walter and Clarence; two brothers, Charles and Nicholas Plein, and two married sisters in Germany.

Mrs. Levi's many friends, of whom there are a host, will mourn her passing and tender sincere condolence to the stricken relatives.

MRS. OVERHOLSER DIES.

Sterling, Sept. 8.—Special to Telegraph—Mrs. J. P. Overholser, the wife of the Sterling postmaster, passed away Sunday. The funeral will be held here Tuesday.

ASK AID OF MRS DODGE OF DIXON

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE WANTS ARMY CANTEN RESOLUTION REPEALED.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—Special to Telegraph—Intimating that the Daughters of the American Revolution were tricked into endorsing the army post canteen during the last hours of their recent convention, W. H. Anderson of Baltimore, superintendent of the Anti Saloon League of America, has asked Mrs. Samuel B. Dodge of Dixon to lead the fight for a reconsideration of the question before the next congress.

Dixon.—At the Dodge home it was stated today that Mrs. Dodge had received a letter from the Anti Saloon League soliciting her aid in the movement to have the matter reconsidered. The enemies of the resolution to restore the army canteen claim it was slipped through the convention at a late hour when a majority of the delegates had left the hall.

LICENSED TO WED

Marriage licenses have been issued to Nels Hackison and Miss Fay M. Coward of Rock Falls and Henry W. Ferston of Macomb and Margaret A. Kenlerburg of Reading, Pa.

J. P. Harvey of Amboy was here today.

J. S. LEAKE WILL PROBATED TODAY

ESTATE VALUED AT $131,000 GOES TO WIDOW AND ONLY SON.

In the county court this morning the will of the late John C. Leake was admitted to probate. The estate, estimated at $131,000, is divided equally among the deceased's widow, Maryette Leake, and his only son, T. Wilbur Leake of this city. Under the provisions of the will the two are made joint executors without bond. A bequest of $500 is left the Dixon Congregational church.

O'Malley Will Filed.

The will of the late Peter O'Malley was also admitted to probate by Judge Scott today. The estate is estimated at about $30,000, the children of the deceased being the heirs.

On City Improvement.

City Attorney Mark Keller presented five proceedings to the county court today, all being confirmed without objection. Assessment rolls in the North Galena avenue sewer, the concrete pavement in the alley at the rear of the postoffice and in the cement waterway and pavement of Highland avenue and Commercial alley were confirmed, and the certificate of final cost in the East First street sewer improvement was approved.

MINISTERS ASK CUT IN RAILROAD FARES

REDUCTIONS ARE NOT ALLOWED EAST OF BUFFALO AND PITTSBURGH.

Western clergymen have asked the transcontinental railroads, all those operating west of Chicago, to fix a low rate for this class of travelers. Men of the cloth, as well as those in charge of a church, are given half rates in all states west where the tariff is above 2 cents and in 2-cent states no reduction is made.

Before the 2 cent per mile passenger fares were put into effect half rates generally were given clergymen and all engaged exclusively in religious work, which included secretaries of Y. M. C. A.'s, missionaries and sisters of charity. When the 2 cent acts were being put through legislators argued that if the railroads were to cut off all reduced rates and concessions they could afford to make the 2 cent rate. The railroads are trying to carry out this idea in abandoning rates for religious workers and clergymen, county fairs and all other concessions. No reductions are now made for any purpose, all applications from organizations for conventions and various gatherings being referred to regular rates.

East of Chicago no rates are given to clergymen west of Pittsburgh and Buffalo. East of those points the railroads still allow half fares to clergymen. The ministers are given half rates from Chicago to any point east of Pittsburgh and Buffalo, but not to places this side. The entire question will be considered by the railroad agents at a meeting in Chicago, October 1.

The Hepburn law allows railroads to issue reef or reduced rate transportation to clergymen and those engaged in religious work.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION OF DEEP TILLING MACHINE

Glessner Bros. of Eldena, who have the agency for the Spalding Deep Tilling machine, will give a demonstration at the M. J. Kent farm, 4 miles west of Amboy on the Amboy and Sterling road Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11th. This machine makes unnecessary a large amount of harrowing, disking, dragging, etc., and makes a thoroughly pulverized seed bed.

Fred Wagner went to Chicago today on business.

HASKELL LODGE WILL DEDICATE TEMPLE

CEREMONIES AT NEW BUILDING IN LEE CENTER NEXT WEDNESDAY.

The dedication of the Odd Fellows building at Lee Center will occur on Wednesday, Sept. 10. The opening ceremonies will begin at 1:15 p. m. and will be conducted by Mrs. A. L. Haskell, patroness of the lodge, assisted by Rev. Dr. Kempster. The Odd Fellows will then proceed to the new building led by Grand Conductor W. H. Pease of Harvey, and the dedication proper begins at 1:30.

Rev. C. E. Sayre of Freeport, who was in Lee Center at the laying of the cornerstone and made a speech which was favorably received by the Odd Fellows, will deliver the address of the day on "The Mission of Odd Fellowship."

At 4:30 p. m. an exhibition of drill work will be given by the degree staff of the Rebekah lodge in Dixon under the direction of Dr. C. A. Robbins. One of their drills will represent the legend "Haskell Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 1004, Lee Center, Ill., F. L. T."

Music will be rendered during the day by the Lee Center orchestra under the leadership of L. E. Lippincott, and the orchestra will also furnish music for a ball at the Woodman hall at 8 p. m. The ball will be preceded by a home talent concert at 7:15 p. m.

Dinner and supper will be served at 12 and 5 o'clock respectively in the new banquet hall, and a supper will also be served in connection with the dance.

FIREMEN STUDY AUTO HANDLING

The Dixon firemen are taking time by the forelock and are "getting wise" to automobiles and their operation before the city purchases the new auto fire truck. An old Buick machine has been secured from Joe Miller and the men are taking turns with the thing, learning to drive. The lessons they are taking now will certainly prove beneficial to them when the new appliance is secured.

SWISSVILLE VICTORIOUS.

The Swissville Sluggers defeated the Mississippi in a slugger match at the Swissville diamond Sunday afternoon, the score being 10 to 6. Both teams used all of their available pitchers and as a result the contest was very amusing to the 200 spectators.

CONVICTS BEGIN HARD WORK TODAY

ACTUAL TEST OF PRISON WORK ON STATE ROADS BEGAN THIS MORNING.

CROWDS VISITED CAMP SUNDAY

Hundreds of Curious Visitors Went to Camp Hope—Religious Services Held.

At 7 o'clock this morning the first real work to be done by inmates of the penal institutions of the state of Illinois as provided for in an act passed by the last general assembly was started by the forty-five "honor men" from the Joliet prison who are encamped at Grand Detour. For four and a half days the men have been taking things easy, hardening themselves gradually and becoming accustomed to the sun; this morning they started to work with a will to make good.

For several days the work under the direction of Superintendent Keegan will be to clear the proposed new road of trees. Commencing at the cemetery some distance southwest of the camp the new road will strike off through the forest and up the hill for over a quarter of a mile, and naturally there will be much clearing to be done before any actual road work will be done.

Daily Routine.

The daily routine, which began this morning and which will be followed every day but Saturdays and Sundays, provides for the men being called at 5:30 a. m. First roll call is at 6 o'clock and at 6:10 breakfast is served. From breakfast until 7:30 the camp will be cleaned up and at 7 the work commences, continuing until noon. One hour is given for dinner; from 1 until 5 o'clock the time will be spent on the road. Supper will be served at 6 and the "boys" will have the evening to themselves. No work will be done Saturday afternoons and Sundays the men may receive relatives and friends. They may write as many letters as they want to at any time.

Camp Dedicated.

"Camp Hope" was formally dedicated late Saturday afternoon by Warden E. M. Allen and his wife, both of whom are almost worshipped by the convicts. Mrs. Allen brought with her from Joliet a large American flag and a beautiful red

THIS IS CERTAIN

THE PROOF THAT DIXON READERS CANNOT DENY

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. J. Helfrich, R. F. D. No. 4, Dixon, Ill., says: "While I have never taken Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can strongly recommend them, and I am glad to confirm the public statement one of my family gave in their praise some years ago. For a long time he suffered from irregular action of his kidneys. He also had backache and found relief only when he used Doan's Kidney Pills, that he got at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. They stopped the pain and restored his kidneys to a normal condition."

Summer Effort News.

Bunqum Beach, Sept. 7.—The paste board roof blew off the hotel today during the gale and the temperature dropped to two degrees above freezing. Fishing through the ice is a sport which is looked forward to the coming week. Several tobogganing and skiing parties are also being arranged for later in the month.

Mrs. Fitzhugh Algernon Scroggs gave a bridge whist party yesterday morning, and fifteen women took the train for home this morning, not having enough money left to remain the rest of the summer.

The young ladies at the resort used to be a problem to the young men, but since they have begun to wear their X-ray gowns the young men can see through them without difficulty.

The Countess de Morin of Paris, France, arrived here yesterday when the countess is not resorting she presides over a tinware counter at the 5 and 10 cent store in Oskaloosa, Ia.

Another carload of canned goods arrived yesterday for the hotel that advertises fresh vegetables every day. At the hotel they slice the roast beef with a safety razor.

There are said to be several families here who are almost as comfortable and are having almost as good a time as though they had stayed at home.

The resort company owing all the concessions has a price on everything excepting the air. They are installing a machine which will meter it and next year all guests will be obliged to pay for what they breathe in at the regular gas rates. One man who was in bathing yesterday swallowed a mouthful of water and the company charged him 10 cents for it. The manager of this resort doesn't think any more of a nickel than he does of his right eye.

Household Brigade.

The household brigade, more familiarly known as "The Guards," which King George reviewed recently on annual parade, dates only from the days of Charles II, though Henry VII, established a royal bodyguard of 50 yeomen, and Henry VIII formed a band of "Gentlemen Pensioners" to protect his sacred person. The first guards were the Coldstreams, originally raised by Monk in 1660 and recruited in the neighborhood of the village of Coldstream, near Berwick. Ten years later the Grenadiers were established, and the physical requirements demanded in recruits for the regiment first gave a meaning of strength and stature to the term "guardsman."

Made Tomb for Queen Bee.

Elden Harriman made a strange discovery this spring when he opened a hive of bees. The queen bee had died in the winter and the other bees stood her up straight on the bottom of the hive and built a little wall of their wax around her, after which they left the hive.—Bangor (Me.) Dispatch.

Their Sense of Humor.

"Why," asks Gertrude Atherton, "should a woman murder her husband?" It's a difficult question, Gertrude, but our own personal guess is that most of them are actuated by a desire to exploit the delicious fund of humor they possess.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS "CASCARETS"

FOR SICK HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, SLUGGISH LIVER AND BOWELS.

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret tonight to cleanse your liver, stomach and bowels and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach or have backache and feel all worn out, are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action, a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

COMPTON

Compton, Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. John Clapp motored to Iowa for a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends.

The fall term of school began last Monday with the following corps of instructors: Primary, Miss Nellie Oderkirk; intermediate, Mrs. Wm. Parker; principal, Prof. Claypoole. Miss Hazel Butler, Zelda Anglemeyer, and Chester Carnahan are attending the Pawpaw high school this week.

We understand that a manual training department is to be added to the curriculum of the Pawpaw high school this season.

Mrs. Myrtle Hammetton returned from her vacation in Indiana Wednesday.

Mrs. Jesse Fox spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the city purchasing goods for her fall millinery line.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Heath Thursday morning, a boy.

Andrew Little has purchased a new Paige touring car of Arthur Burly.

John Banks has been assisting Giffin & Co., of Pawpaw in their elevator business the past week.

Mrs. Delbert Miller is at home for a few days with her mother who has been under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Dunton has sold her residence on Cherry street and will make her future home in Dixon. Frank Ikler was the buyer. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Ikler will occupy their new home in the near future.

We are glad to note that Mrs. Levi Beemer has so far recovered from her long indisposition as to be able to be in attendance at our public gatherings.

A number of our citizens spent labor day at Earlville. The Earlville people certainly carried out a good program.

Rev. Graham attended the Country Life Conference at DeKalb this week. Rally Day in the Methodist Sunday school is set for Sunday, Sept. 14th. Everyone is invited to attend these exercises.

Proceeding the Rally day the school will hold a field day on the ball field Saturday afternoon, Sept. 13th. A list of the events will be found below.

Chas. Stout and Chris July purchased a clover huller and are busy this week hulling for the clover raisers in this community. Judging by the way the clover ran at George Schunkle's it will be a profitable crop.

Miss Amy Oddy and Miss Rosetti Carnahan are attending Jennings Seminary in Aurora this year. They left Tuesday morning to take up their work.

Mrs. Wesley Hyde made a business trip to Pawpaw Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitts of the Berg were Pawpaw visitors Thursday.

We are glad to note that the little son of Eddie Bettner who has been seriously ill, is on the way to complete recovery.

There will be a social evening for the Sunday school of the Berg church Thursday night of this week. Singing, games and refreshments. A good time is assured. All interested in the welfare of the Sunday school are invited. No admission or collection will be asked.

The following is the program for field day of the Methodist Sunday school next Saturday.

150 yard dash—Boys under ten, first and second prizes, by F. A. Graham.

50 yard dash, boy under 15, first and second prizes by John Banks.

100 yard dash, boys over 14, first and second prizes by Eddie Bennett.

50 yard dash, girls over 14, first and second prizes by John Archer.

Egg race, girls of any age, first and second prizes by John Clapp.

Boys' sack race, first and second prizes by Bennie Holdren.

Girls' sack race, first and second prizes, by John Richardson.

Boys' shoe lacing contest, first and second prizes by S. O. Argraves.

Wheel barrow race with rider, first and second prizes, Friends of the School.

Wheel barrow race, driver blind folded, first and second prizes, Friends of the School.

The field events will be followed by a ball game between the young men's class, John Clapp, teacher, and the boys' class, Bennie Holdren teacher. No admission to the grounds. Everybody invited. All children of Sunday school age permitted to contest in the field events.

Lost—In Dixon between the electric light plant and Daily News office, a pocket book containing in the neighborhood of $25 dollars. Finder please return to the Daily News office and receive reward. S. B.

SENATOR'S WIFE IS MANAGER OF BIG FARM

Were Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the former representative and governor of the state of Virginia, now United States senator, ever to find herself bereft of means and friends she would have no difficulty in making an excellent living as a farm manager.

For this position she has ably qualified upon her own country estate of 650 acres, near Chatham, Va.

To those who only know of her social honors and the hospitality of the gubernatorial mansion during her regime in Richmond, the fact that she manages her farm, personally comes as a decided surprise. In appearance, also, Mrs. Swanson offers a decidedly new version of a farmer. The estate at Chatham was purchased some years ago by Senator Swanson as a country home and Mrs. Swanson very wisely lived in it some time before she made an attempt to remodel, thereby determining through practical experience just the improvements and changes most desirable. When she did conclude to start alterations she insisted that the architect make his plans in faithful accordance with her suggestions, and as a result she now has a home which is a constant joy to her and the show place of the surrounding country.

The old-fashioned garden with its quaint box borders was left intact and the rose garden with its hundreds of bushes represents the embodiment of one of Mrs. Swanson's chief hobbies. A view of her roses in spring is considered well worth the trip from Lynchburg, according to some of her friends who make the journey just to view the glory of one tree rose alone. This rose is a grafted variety very popular in England called the "Frau Karl Druski." It is paper white with blossoms that expand to the size of saucers. Then, too, there are sometimes more than a hundred stalks of Easter lilies in bloom at one time, to say nothing of the countless other flowers that give their best bloom to pay for their care.

Flowers are only a small part of the production of this up-to-date farm. For Mrs. Swanson does nothing half-heartedly or indifferently. Her farm keeps the table the year around. Each week a box arrives at the senator's city home, the contents of which for quality go ahead of anything the city markets can provide. Mrs. Swanson raises and cures her own hams, her dairy furnishes her table with delicious butter and her poultry yard supplies chickens and eggs such as are only enjoyed by few in these days of cold storage and refrigerator cars.

Fruits and fresh vegetables of every kind in abundance are carefully and scientifically cultivated, for she reads all of the works that bear upon farm management and cultivation. In order of facilitate her correspondence to her farm people she has recently learned to operate a typewriter, and now all of her letters of instruction are written on this machine. She also keeps a large herd of cattle, and not a single field is plowed or a bit of seed planted except by her orders and under her minute instruction. She has made an exhaustive study of fertilizers and soil cultivation, and discourses upon these subjects as learnedly as any sunburned, horny-handed farmer who has spent a lifetime working in his fields.

Mrs. Swanson puts enthusiasm and energy into everything she undertakes. She enjoys society, delights in travel, and adores her new city home, but adores her farm, declaring that is the only way to live. She asks nothing better for nine months of the year than to be allowed to stay there. But with all her love of country life and quiet she is too entirely devoted to her husband's welfare and comfort to leave him to the heat and solitude of a summer alone in the city, so the Darby and Joan existence they lead is constantly spent together despite the allurements of the country and the exactions of public duty.

Mrs. Swanson is an artist, as the dainty vignettes about her home testify, and also a famous housekeeper of the old-fashioned type, giving personal supervision to every detail of both establishments.

KING GEORGE EDITS THE "COURT CIRCULAR"

The "Court Circular," is a newspaper established by Prince Albert, Royal Consort of Queen Victoria to be under the direct supervision of the monarch, an official record of the doings of the British court.

Lately there has been some talk of discontinuing the "Circular," for King George, unlike King Edward, who attached much importance to the publication and was a great stickler for minute accuracy, especially in the descriptions of the persons mentioned, is said to have expressed his opinion that the paper is a cause of worry, and costs more than it is worth. He holds that in these days of up-to-date journalism, it is unnecessary.

Queen Victoria took a keen interest in the "Circular" and it was her rule, when her majesty was in residence at Balmoral, to send a special copy to one of the Aberdeen papers every evening. Furthermore, although an official court newsmen was responsible for the publication of the "Circular," the late queen herself on special occasions contributed to its pages.

"Probably the most remarkable 'Court Circular' ever sent out was issued one day in 1883, when John Brown, her majesty's faithful highland attendant, died. It contained the following lines:

"An honest, faithful, and devoted follower, a trustworthy, discreet, and straightforward man, possessed of strong sense, he filled a position of great and anxious responsibility, the descriptions of the persons mentioned, is said to have expressed his opinion that the paper is a cause of worry, and costs more than it is worth. He holds that in these days of up-to-date journalism, it is unnecessary.

duties of which he performed with such constant and increasing care as to secure for himself the real friendship of the queen. To her majesty the loss is irreparable, and the death of this truly faithful and devoted servant has been a grievous shock to the queen."

Nor was this tribute surprising, considering the high regard Queen Victoria entertained for the stalwart Highlander, whose fidelity to his duties was such as to earn not only the entire confidence, but the real friendship of the queen. Once her majesty wrote of him: "He was always respectful, never servile; always useful, never obtrusive; usually silent, but when he did speak he was blunt and direct."

Nearly every event of state importance is notified in the "Court Circular." Every time the king receives a prime minister or any officer of state the fact is duly chronicled, and in the same way, when his majesty has an audience with ambassadors or governors, or where he performs any ceremony or act, the public is informed of it through the Court Newsmen.

An interesting event in the history of the "Court Circular" was that which occurred on November 15, 1911, when the whole paper was dispatched by wireless telegraphy. At that time the king and queen were going to attend the great coronation dinner, and the customary account of the court doings was transmitted by wireless from Gibraltar.

It was a week later that the "Court Circular" described for the first time the king and queen consort of these realms as "their imperial majesties." This arose, of course, from the fact that it was only when the king-emperor and the queen-empress reached Aden that the full imperial style and the title could be accorded them as such.

TWO RIVALS FOR HAND OF ESTHER CLEVELAND

Herman Stump and H. Gordon Ewing of Baltimore, Md., are rivals in a race for the hand of Miss Esther Cleveland, second daughter of Mrs. Thomas J. Preston and the late President Cleveland.

Mr. Stump is a son of Judge and Mrs. H. Arthur Stump. Mr. Ewing is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson Ewing. Both are about twenty-one years old.

Mr. Ewing's friends believe he has the better chance to gain the victory. While both young men have been guests at Miss Cleveland's home, Mr. Ewing is still there, which leads the "wise-ones" to prognosticate that all will not be well with Mr. Stump's suit.

Both wooers are members of the senior class at Princeton university.

They have been friends for years, having known each other before they went to college. The disposition of both families is to be friendly, although it is admitted that each would like to have its favorite "win."

This is the way Mrs. Ewing discussed the story:

"Thus far I have heard of no engagement, but I know that my son and Mr. Stump, his friend, are fond of Miss Cleveland. I shall see Gordon soon, when Mr. Ewing and myself will go to Riddelford Pool, Me., and we shall know more about these rumors. If he is thinking about marrying, I should like to spank him, for he's only a boy."

Mrs. Stump, not so communicative, said: "It is true that my son has been a guest at a house party given by Miss Cleveland, but he is now at Bass Rocks, Mass., and I have not been told of any engagement concerning him."

According to a story related in Baltimore, Mr. Ewing was a guest of Paul Cleveland at Newport last spring. Miss Cleveland was a guest also and it was this visit which brought on the love affair which now involves Mr. Stump and Miss Cleveland.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package. Five cents.

The New Women in Japan.

A certain advanced set of women in Japan have as their organ a woman's paper entitled the "Blue Stocking," or the Japanese equivalent for that name. This set of women claims social equality with men, and works for the purification of Japanese society. The journal has been suppressed several times for the expression of what the Japanese called "dangerous thoughts." Included in these are scientific criticism of Japanese history and of the old Japanese records about the imperial family, doubts as to the patriotism of General Nogi's suicide, and criticism of police methods. A meeting was held lately under the auspices of the "Blue Stocking" that may result in the birth of a definite woman suffrage movement in Japan.

Prince's Heaps of Names.

Prince Albert, the king's second son, who has been visiting the Colonial possessions as a cadet on board the "Cumberland," has a reputation for an innocent sort of smartness which he fully maintained at Barbadoes. While on shore the lad was surrounded by a bevy of girls who eagerly begged him to sign their autograph books. The prince looked glum and then replied, "I write awfully badly, and I have heaps of names, do you want them all?" This latter remark, it needs hardly to be added, was a bit at the string of names with which he was christened, Albert, Frederick, Arthur, George.

Early Parcels Post.

As long ago as the seventeenth century the attempt was made to prepay letters by using stamps. In 1653 Paris tried a system that even provided pillar boxes for the letters, which were to have a billet, price 1 sol, attached to the letter or parcel. The experiment met the usual experience of the pioneer—ridicule. Mice were dropped into the letter boxes and when the letters came to be collected it was found that the animals had made a hearty meal of them. As nobody could be sure of the fate of the parcels, the experiment came to a sudden end.

Possibly Related to King Cole.

Alfonso of Spain seems to get more genuine amusement out of his job than most other living monarchs, notwithstanding the fact that an uncomfortably large part of his time is spent in dodging the assassin's bullet. The divinity that doth hedge a king doesn't trouble him in the least; he takes chances, goes freely among his subjects and often contrives to increase his popularity by some shrewd or humorous remark.

Teaching Bobby.

The whole family had been patiently trying to teach three-year-old Bobby to be polite, and particularly to say "No, thank you." They had company for dinner one day and when the beads were offered her she shook her head. "Don't you want some?" asked big sister, encouragingly. "No," said Bobby, shortly. "No what?" asked big sister sweetly and more encouragingly. "No beads," scowled Bobby.

Few Immigrants to South Africa.

The official year book of the South African customs statistical bureau shows that, among Europeans, the excess of arrivals over departures from the union amounted to about five hundred persons. The chief increase was in respect of women. Among Asiatic and other colored races the departures were considerably in excess of arrivals.

Early Transit in London.

Lady Dorothy Nevill, who remembered when sedan chairs were used, remembered also, and mentions in her Reminiscences, the first London (Eng.) steam bus, which ran for the first time just 80 years ago. The inventor was Walter Hancock, and the first appearance of the vehicle, a cumbersome affair named the Era, created much excitement. It carried 14 passengers and ran from Paddington to the bank at a charge of 6d all the way. Its success led to the introduction of several other buses, but they were withdrawn in consequence of the turnpike acts of 1840. "I saw Sir Moses Montefiore go in a sedan chair to the prince of Wales' garden party at Marlborough house in 1878," writes a correspondent. "Sir Moses was then ninety-three. The party was on Saturday, so his Jewish principles prevented him from using his horses, but the men were not his servants. They were not forced to labor. So it was all right."

Story of Big Maine Willow.

One of the biggest willows in Maine may be seen on the Emery Estes farm in Durham. This farm is on the river road leading from the bridge at Lisbon Falls toward Southwest Bend. The base of the enormous growth here is between 12 and 15 feet. The top is luxuriant and affords fine shade for the front yard. Durham people relate the curious story that this great willow grew from a slender willow switch used by one of the pioneer settlers in town when he first came here, over a bridge path through the forest by horseback. His companion who settled on an adjoining farm, also stuck a switch into the ground, by way of a memorial of their journey. His companion's switch did not survive this transplanting. But the big tree in what is now Mr. Estes's yard bears testimony to nearly two centuries growth.

May Day in Quebec.

May day is scarcely a merry one in the province of Quebec. Yearly leases prevail, and expire April 30, so that the first of May is removal day. In Montreal and other large centers of the province many quaint scenes are to be witnessed, and it is held that you will see more furniture knocking about the streets May 1 than you ever saw in any second-hand dealer's emporium. Many peculiar customs have come into being through this habit of the Quebec Canadians of flitting or removing at the same time. One of the most remarkable is that for the first three days of the month houses are held in common, that is to say, if the people into whose house you are moving have been unable to get away before your arrival, you may all live together until May 3, when you can compel your predecessors to make their final exit.

Other Things.

There is too much of a general inclination to sniff or to speak disparagingly of the rolling stone. The rolling stone knows in the heart of him that there are other worth-while things in the world besides moss. He is happy in fun that he can do his work and have his fun at the same time.

DIXON OPERA HOUSE

"Fine Feathers," which enjoyed a season of uninterrupted success in the Cort Theatre Chicago, and the Astor Theatre, New York, last year, comes here direct from its record breaking engagements with H. H. Frazee's original production for Wednesday, Sept. 10th, at the Dixon Opera House.

It is said to be a tremendously strong and compelling drama of today in which Eugene Walter, the author, has given us a sample of work that breathes present day life, and drives home a lesson that is not soon forgotten.

"Fine Feathers," is a gripping story, human at all times. Bob Reynolds is a young chemist, honest, sincere and full of love for his wife and home. Although she claims to reciprocate this love, she is unhappy because of the husband's financial inability to provide her with all the "fine feathers" possessed by women in the higher walks of life. A consoling friend, Mrs. Collins, a Staten Island neighbor, with an extreme fondness for highballs, persuades her to spend the money Mr. Reynolds has laid aside to pay the butcher's bill for two tickets at a matinee and a new hat. When Bob returns to find that there is not a thing save bread in the house to eat, she confesses her extravagance and is easily forgiven. John Brand, a wealthy cement contractor, tries to influence Bob to approve an inferior grade of cement for a big dam contract but his offer of $40,000 bribe money is quickly rebuked until his wife, overhearing the conversation, and, seeing an opportunity to get what she wants, persuades Bob to commit the felony by threats of leaving him.

ATTRACTIONS COMING

TO THE FAMILY
 This evening will bring to the Family theatre the famous Romero Family, introducing three ladies and two gentlemen in a Spanish singing, dancing and giant marimbaphone playing offering which will be seen for the first time in this section of the country. Clyde Elliott, an exceptionally clever blackface comedian, will present his well known offering. Manager Slothower reports that that numerous attractions under contract for presentation in rapid succession at the popular Family theatre will demonstrate that nothing but the very best obtainable will be seen at the Family.

Pictures tonight:

Just Gold, a western drama.
 Hannigan's Harem, a comedy.
 The Love Test, a drama.

DIXON MERCHANTS TO ENTERTAIN VISITORSPEORIA BUSINESS MEN AND A BAND TO BE HERE ON THURSDAY.

The Peoria business men, 125 in number, and augmented by a band, 30 men, will be the guests of the Dixon merchants on Thursday from 8:40 to 10 a. m. and the local business men are planning a short entertainment for them. The special train carrying the visitors will be stopped at the north side depot and the guests will be brought over to the business section of the city on special trolley cars. They will get off the cars at Galena avenue and First street where the band will play a number of selections, after which they will march to the Elks club for an hour's visit, marching from there to the I. N. U. office, where they will board cars to take them to the south side depot. The Peorians will go to Amboy from here.

George Saunby has gone to Mason City, Ia., for a short visit with friends.

CONVICTS BEGIN
HARD WORK TODAY

and white pennant bearing the inscription, "Camp Hope," which she presented to the "boys."

The 42-foot flagstaff was set and the warden's wife threw the first shovelful of dirt around it, and as the two flags were unfurled and pulled up to be caught and spread by the breeze, a hearty cheer for the kind-hearted warden and his equally sympathetic wife was the tribute of the honor men for the interest the two have taken in them and their less fortunate comrades within the prison walls at Joliet.

Warden Pleased.

Warden Allen expressed his absolute satisfaction with the condition of the camp and the interest of the men. He made no decision on the question of a ball game between the honor men's team and some Dixon team, leaving the question open for a decision at some future time.

Governor Invited.

Every man at the camp, including Superintendent Keegan and Night Watchman Hardy, has united in extending an invitation to Governor Dunne to visit the camp at his convenience and to see for himself the way in which the men appreciate his efforts to make their conditions better. The invitation was written by one of the convicts, whose ability as a penman is said to have resulted in his being one of the state's charges.

Sunday at Camp.

Sunday was a quiet day at the camp, although hundreds journeyed there to see the much advertised and discussed road workers. But few, those who were friends of some of the men, or had business on the grounds, were allowed to enter the camp proper. Many of the men wrote to relatives yesterday informing them that on Sundays relatives can visit and it is expected that hereafter many of the "boys" will spend several hours with dear ones.

A Chicago mother was the only relative to visit the camp yesterday, and she spent several happy hours with her son. She expressed pleasure at the treatment being accorded her boy and the other men and promised to come here as often as possible to visit her lad.

Held Services.

First religious services were held in the camp at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, Rev. A. B. Whitcombe, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church of this city conducting divine worship in the large chapel tent which was erected Saturday, and during the week the tent will be turned over to the boys for lounging and reading room. Every man in the camp and a number of invited Dixon visitors attended the first service.

A male quartet from the Dixon lodge B. P. O. E. led in the singing of the old hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Stand Up, Stand Up, for Jesus" and "Softly Now the Light of Day," the words of which had been printed and distributed among the men, and they joined heartily in the singing of the good old songs. There are many fine voices among the men in camp, and as a result the music was a decided feature of the meeting.

Appreciate Treatment.

The kind interest being shown in the men by many of the residents of Dixon and Grand Detour has made a decided impression on most of the "honor" men. They have received several sacks of apples, all of which have been donated, and many ladies have surprised them with big batches of home made doughnuts, cookies, etc. Naturally the kindness has added to the spirit of helpfulness that is rapidly growing among the men, and all are going at their work with their shoulders squared and a determination which bespeaks more forcibly than words their resolve to make good.

RESIDENCE SOLD

Mrs. Daniel Knapp sold her residence, at 212 Fifth street, last week to Vincent Arnould of Ashton. Consideration $2,750.

SON BORN.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Witzleb on Sunday.

TRAMPS SECURE
FARMERS' MAIL

HELP THEMSELVES TO NEWSPAPERS BUT NEVER TAKE FIRST CLASS MATTER

COMPLAINTS HAVE BEEN MADE

Credence Is Given Opinion of Freeport Official Who Has Investigated Several Cases

Freeport Journal—People residing along rural free delivery routes, running out of this city, have often complained that they do not receive their papers, magazines and mail matter, as they should and the cause of the trouble is said to be a fact that often tramps go through the country, help themselves to the daily papers or magazines as their fancy dictates, but never take letters. A local official stated yesterday that he had received several complaints of people missing their papers and that tramps were blamed for the missing articles.

In speaking of the acts of the tramps, the officers stated that the case of Francis Toumning, which was up before Commissioner Green yesterday, in his opinion, was not an offense of such a serious nature, but that an example had to be made of some one who was committing the offenses. The officer also stated that while no specific cases had been reported to him and that it was impossible to find the persons who were committing the crimes against the government, a number of farmers had told him that they missed their papers regularly and upon investigation discovered that they had been delivered to the postoffice and in turn to the rural carrier, who had placed them in their proper place, but that upon going to the mail boxes the papers were missing.

SUPERVISORS WILL MEET TOMORROW P. M.

The regular September meeting of the board of supervisors will convene tomorrow at 2 p. m. and all the bills against the county must be presented to the county clerk by this evening in order to have them acted upon at tomorrow's session. The most important matter to come before the board is the report of the state aid roads committee.

VISITS GRANDY FOR FIRST TIME SINCE '55

The venerable Lawrence McDonald is taking a lot of pride today in telling his friends of his visit to Grand Detour Sunday, during which he looked over Camp Hope. Mr. McDonald's pride in his trip to Grand Detour was because it was the first time he had been in the village since 1855, when the Ogle county town was busier than Dixon.

DIXON ELKS WILL GO TO ROCKFORD FRIDAY

A number of Dixon Elks are arranging to go to Rockford Friday in automobiles to attend the clam bake to be given by the Rockford lodge, the fine patronage from that city on labor day making it desirable that as many of the Dixon Elks as can return the courtesy.

Hugh Coffey of Dubuque was here Saturday.

LOYOLLA UNIVERSITY

Joe Keenan, a graduate of the class of 1913 of Dixon high school, and the star catcher of the Dixon Stars, left this morning for Loyola university. He contemplates taking the full four year course at the institution, and while a student there will try for the baseball team. His many friends in Dixon predict success for him in his studies and on the diamond.

Miss Leonor Crawford of St. Paul is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. Blanche Dysart.

Show starts promptly at 7:00

See the Farmers Run to the Spalding Deep Tilling Machine Demonstration at
 M. J. Kent farm 4 miles west of Amboy on Amboy and Sterling road, Thursday afternoon September the 11th.

Every farmer in this community is invited to come and see the Spalding Machine go down into the soil 12 to 16 inches deep or more, and make a thoroughly pulverized seed bed all in one operation.

THERE IS NO OTHER MACHINE ON EARTH LIKE THE SPALDING. It is not a sub-soil plow. It is far more than a disk plow. The Spalding pulverizes the ground as deep as it goes, 12 to 16 inches or more, and makes a fine seed-bed in one operation.

IT MAKES UNNECESSARY a large amount of harrowing, disking, dragging, etc. It completely turns under weeds and cornstalks.

THE DEEP POROUS SEED BED PREPARED BY THE SPALDING HOLDS THE MOISTURE OF FALL, WINTER AND SPRING, THROUGH THE DROUTH OF SUMMER.

Call at our store and get the Spalding books and pamphlets on Deep Tilling—the live subject among progressive farmers today.
 Come to the demonstration. Remember the date. Remember the place.

POULTRY CULTURE.

Article XV.

Drainage Outlet: The outlet must be low enough so that the pipes leading to it will have sufficient fall to cause the water to flow quickly thru the pipes and empty the land of the surplus water promptly after a heavy downpour. The outlet is generally into a pond or stream.

The conditions may be such that a straight line of drain tile will make the land dry. In such cases place the trench where the water will naturally flow away most readily over the surface.

If more drains are needed they may be placed so as to flow into the main drain if the land slopes so as to permit it.

Parallel Drains: If the land has a general slope parallel drains may be planned to empty into a main drain at the foot of the slope. In other words, the lines of the drains follow the grade of the land. They are placed 20 to 30 feet apart according to the nature of the soil. The depth at which the tiles are laid should be sufficient to escape the frost and to catch the water. Two and one-half to four feet will do.

Opening the Trenches: After the system is mapped on paper, stakes are driven in the land showing where the trenches are to be dug, width and depth or grade. In rocky land the pick and shovel are used to open the ditches. The soil is easily excavated where the soil permits by special draining spades and scoops. The bottom of the trench is carefully graded for receiving the tiles.

Laying the Tiles: The tiles most commonly used for ordinary under drains have a bore of four inches. The sections are carefully laid end to end so the passage for water is even.

The soil as it is filled over the line of tile should be firmly tamped and the surface over the trench rounded up to allow for settling. The outlet should be protected by wire netting against the entrance of rats and other animals.

Effects of Drains: The effect of under drains is beneficial from the beginning and increases yearly. The surplus water finds its way through the soil to the pipes and the water is prevented from raising, even in wet seasons, above the level of the drains.

THAW WAITS IN JAIL

Fugitive Will Be Taken to Montreal Sept. 15.

Spends Day Reading What Newspapers Say About Case—Girls Worship Him as Hero.

Costicook, Que., Sept. 8.—An official announcement as to when Thaw will be removed to Montreal for his hearing before the king's bench on the writ of habeas corpus obtained by his counsel has not been made here.

The quarters here are comfortable and the immigration agents in charge said again Thaw might be held until the last moment.

Thaw's day was perhaps the most uneventful day since his arrival in Canada. He had only two callers, his stenographer and his local counsel, Dr. W. L. Shurtleff. Most of the day the prisoner spent reading about himself in the newspapers.

Two hero-worshipping girls stood beneath the barred windows of his room for half an hour in the afternoon holding aloft bouquets and begging him to show his face.

"We want to say we're seen you once, Harry," they cried. "Just come to the window for a second." A guard turned and spoke to Thaw, who refused to appear at the window.

Unless a hitch occurs, William Travers Jerome will appear before District Magistrate Mulvena here late today to answer to a charge of gambling. His case had been set for hearing on Thursday, September 11, but both sides agreed to advance it, and Jerome announced over long-distance telephone from Montreal that he would be here without fail. He was on the point of leaving for New York, under the impression that the case could not be called at once.

It should be evident from this brief consideration of the subject that wherever possible the poultryman should choose a location having adequate natural drainage of soil. If this be not practicable we have a possible though expensive remedy in the artificial underdraining of the land.

Market and Transportation.

Any plant that has perishable products to dispose of should secure the most convenient market and prompt economical transportation to customers.—H. A. McKeene, Secretary Illinois Farmers' Institute, Springfield, Ill.

HARDANGERS TO MEET IN COUNTY

BIG SESSION WILL BE HELD SOON AT THE VILLAGE OF LEE, NEAR HERE.

PROGRAMS WERE GIVEN OUT

Norwegians From All Over the United States Will Take Part in Program.

Further particulars concerning the big Norwegian reunion and home coming, to be held at Lee Sept. 18 and 19, have been received, and the program, shows that the event will be of great interest to Norwegians all over this country.

The name of the society, which meets annually, is Hardanger Stevne and is composed of all Hardangers and descendants.

Last year they met in Iowa and the attendance was enormous. This year Lee has been honored and the Norwegians have arranged a program to do honor to the occasion. Mr. Brown says they expect at least 1000 guests and that full arrangements have been made to care for them comfortably.

The Stevne will be held two days, Sept. 17 and 18, 1913. On the evening of the second day a banquet will be held composed entirely of Norwegian dishes. A bridal couple is expected to be present dressed in full Norwegian or Hardanger costume.

The large tent which will be provided will have a seating capacity of 1200.

This occasion will furnish the folk here student a rare opportunity to witness the beautiful Norwegian costumes and everybody will be cordially welcome.

BARN BURNED TO GROUND SATURDAY

LARGE STRUCTURE ON SALZMAN FARM WAS DESTROYED BY FLAMES.

A large fire on the Salzman farm west of Eldopa, which farm is tenanted by Chris Mossiman, was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon while Mr. Mossiman was in Dixon. He received word while here that the barn was burning and was hurried home by B. F. Downing in his automobile, but before he arrived the building and contents were a mass of flames and nothing could be done. The origin of the fire, which destroyed the barn, a great deal of hay and grain, some machinery and lumber that had been hauled to the farm to repair buildings, is a mystery. Mr. Mossiman has about $300 insurance.

STRUCK BY BIRD SHOT.
Sterling, Sept. 8.—Special to Telegraph—John O'Rourke, a fireman on a switch engine here, while hunting wild geese near the Sterling end of the Nelson bridge Sunday, was shot full of bird shot from a shotgun in the hands of a man whose identity has not been fully established. His chest, arms, neck and face were fairly shot full of the little pellets. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Fremont Weaver.

HUERTA PROMISE DENIED BY AGENT

O'Shaughnessy Says Note on Ineligibility Only Assurance He Has Had.

TREVINO NOT TO SUCCEED

Juarez, Mex., Is Quiet Following Shooting of Drunken Mexican Lieutenant Who Attempted to Kill U. S. Officials.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Much attention was attracted in official circles here during the day when two new phases in the Mexican situation developed.

One was the published disclaimer of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires at Mexico City, that any positive assurances had been given him of the intention of Victoriano Huerta not to be a candidate in the approaching elections.

The other was the receipt of private telegrams stating that Gen. Geronimo Trevino would be made minister of war soon to succeed General Blanquet. It had been generally supposed here that Trevino was ordered back to Mexico City by Huerta to be given the reins of the government as provisional president, while Huerta entered the presidential campaign.

Rely on Gamboa View.
Washington officials have often pointed out that they had relied only on the repeated emphasis by Federico Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, of the statement that Huerta was ineligible by the constitution to succeed himself.

May Delay Election.
Vera Cruz, Sept. 8.—From the capital comes the prediction that when congress convenes September 15 General Huerta will recommend a postponement of the elections under a clause in the constitution, which provides that no elections shall be held in case of a too-disturbed state of the country.

John Lind is merely waiting for a development of events and is utilizing his time in acquiring information as to conditions in the republic. He attended a bull fight.

Juarez Quits Down.
El Paso, Tex., Sept. 8.—Official Juarez subsided in outward feeling against Americans because of the shooting of Lieut. Francisco Acosta by government officers here, following the investigation conducted by the inspector of Mexican consulates, who blames Acosta as the aggressor. Juarez officials gave citizens to understand that they would not countenance any public anti-American demonstrations.

DIXON PLAYERS ON PENNANT WINNING TEAM

The Oshkosh team of the W-I league yesterday won the pennant for the second consecutive time and Dixon fans will take an interest in the accomplishment since Rip Tracey of this city is the first sacker and Joe Kernan, a former Dixon Brown, is also with the organization. Members of this team will join the Dixon players after the 14th of this month in forming a barnstorming team, and among the games contemplated is a contest with the Milwaukee A. A. team in this city on October 3rd.

FREE STEREOPTICON VIEWS

Stereopticon views of eastern cities of the United States will be given free of charge on a large screen south of the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow evening and Mr. Bailey will lecture briefly, explaining features of the views.

MISS COLLINS' MOTHER

IS VERY ILL
Word from Miss Collins, superintendent of the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital of this city, who is now in Ireland, says that her mother is in very poor health and shows no improvement.

A. H. Richardson went to Chicago this morning and from there he will go to Indiana to visit his wife, who has been spending a few weeks with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Busby returned today from a Sunday visit with the former's brother, F. J. Busby, and family, near DeKalb, who leave on Wednesday on a tour through the eastern states.

County Superintendent L. W. Miller visited schools in Palmyra today. Mr. and Mrs. Horn have rented the Moss cottage. Later they will occupy the Dr. Worsley residence on Galena avenue.

Russell A. Wilhelm attended the Morrison fair Thursday.

PULLMAN CO.'S MEN DEMAND MORE PAY

CONDUCTORS AND PORTERS BEGIN FIGHT FOR HIGHER WAGES

HAVE ORGANIZED BROTHERHOODS

Men Claim They Receive Smallest Pay of All Railroad Workers

A demand for higher wages which may carry with it some relief to the traveling public from burdensome tips, may result from an organization that has just been perfected by the conductors and porters of the Pullman company. For years these men have been desirous of forming a union, but each time it was proposed, watchful detectives of the Pullman corporation, reported the names of the would be organizers to the superiors and discharges followed, it is said.

Some time ago the sleeping car conductors asked to be taken into the Order of Railway Conductors of the steam roads, but the request was declined on the ground that there was not sufficient in common in the lines of work. The porters have made several attempts to organize.

Incorporation papers have been issued by the secretary of state in Springfield, one to the Federation of Pullman Conductors of America, and the other to the Federation of Pullman Porters of America. Headquarters of both organizations will be in Chicago. Through lack of a brotherhood employees have been unable to secure increases in wages, and they are the lowest paid of all railroad men. An attempt will be made to secure the membership of every Pullman conductor and porter and when a sufficient number are enrolled it is planned to formulate demands for increases in pay and improved working conditions.

Pullman conductors are given $70 a month first year of employment, and $75 the second year. The maximum pay is $90 a month and they must furnish a bond and buy uniforms. The porters receive $25 a month and the public is presumed to make up the deficit. Last year Pullman earnings increased 6 per cent over the preceding year. The stock of the corporation pays 8 per cent a year. Conductors and porters are worked almost continuously, being given one day layover at the western end or a round trip from coast to coast. Either the conductor or porter is presumed to be on duty all night. Railroad passenger train conductors receive from $150 to $175 a month with regulation hours of work. There are about 20,000 sleeping car conductors and porters in the United States, the Great Northern and the Milwaukee & St. Paul operating their own cars. Recently the New Haven road turned its sleepers over to the Pullman Co.

WOODMEN TO PICNIC AT AMBOY SEPT. 11TH

LARGE NUMBER OF MEMBERS FRIENDS AT THE GREEN RIVER PARK.

One of the largest events of the month will be the Lee County M. W. A. picnic on Thursday, Sept. 11, at Green River park in Amboy. One of the chief events of the day will be the speech of Hon. M. H. Cleary of Galena. Another event will be the tug of war between the Amboy camp and any other camp wishing to compete.

The program for the day is as follows:
1:15—Address of Welcome.
1:30—Drill by M. W. A. Foresters no. 56.
2:00—Address by M. H. Cleary.
3:00—Meeting of County Organization and Election of Officers.

Other races and entertainments are being prepared and a big dance will be held in the pavilion at the park in the evening.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Woodmen and their friends to spend the day with us, coming in the morning with a picnic basket and enjoying the day.

ODD ENGLISH LAWS

Every Act of British Subject Can Be Regulated.

Statute Books of the Realm Contain Much That Is of Interest, Showing How Parliament Regulated Life of the People.

The ponderous statute books of the realm are a vast storehouse of information for the historian and antiquarian, and even for the merely curious they contain much that is of interest as showing how, in the long ago, parliament carefully regulated the daily life, the food, the clothing, the amusements, the business, the religious worship, and even the burial of the people of this country, says London Tit-Bits.

Most of the regulations are, of course, now obsolete, and many comprehensive repealing acts have been passed in recent years, but there still remain some little known restrictions which would cause great consternation if they were suddenly enforced.

The proper observance of Sunday is insisted on in many old and unregarded statutes. No one can lawfully be present at any meeting or assembly of people out of his own parish on Sunday for the purpose of indulging in any sport or pastime whatsoever—a prohibition which would tend materially to the reduction of the poor rate if it were universally enforced today, for the penalty, 3s 4d, is to be devoted to the relief of the poor. It is hardly necessary to add that only lawful games may be indulged in within the parish.

Thus, the members of the village cricket club may legally play a game of cricket among themselves on a Sunday, but they cannot play a match with the team from a neighboring village, for one of the contesting elevens would necessarily be out of their own parish.

Members of the numerous play producing societies may be interested to know that the act of Charles I. forbidding the performance of plays on Sunday is still un repealed.

Exposing or offering goods for sale on Sunday may still entail forfeiture of the wares; no drover, horse courier, wagoner, butcher, or higgler may travel or go to an inn on the Lord's day, and any tradesman, workman, laborer, or person of like degree who on Sunday follows his ordinary calling (works of necessity and charity excepted), is liable to a penalty of 5s. The game of bowls is a very popular pastime, but how many of the thousands who indulge in it are aware that it is still enacted that "no manner of person shall at any time play at any bowl or bowls in other places out of his garden or orchard," under a penalty of 6s 8d for each offense.

Again, it is unlawful for workmen, laborers or servants, or for seamen or fishermen, to play at tennis, dice, cards, or quoits, except at Christmas time, and even at that festive season they must not play in their masters' houses or in their masters' presence.

Indeed, any one at all who takes part in such games as fairs, basset, hazard or roulette, or in any game played with dice, except backgammon, does so at his peril, for all these and few others are unlawful games.

Statutes of 200 years ago still forbid us to indulge in lotteries, raffles, sweepstakes, or any scheme whereby prizes are distributed by lot or chance. Horse races within ten miles of Charing Cross can only be held at properly licensed places, and any one taking part in an unlicensed race may be fined £10 or be sent to prison for two months.

Such exhibitions as the baiting of hounds, bears, bulls and badgers, cock fighting and dog fights are prohibited by old acts of parliament, and a curious side light on ancient habits is found in the still existing enactment of Edward I. that fairs and markets must not be held in the church yards.

The old sumptuary laws, which prescribed the clothes that might be worn by various classes, have been repealed, but still members of parliament are forbidden to wear armor or carry arms within the precincts of parliament, and no one is to go armed to any market or fair, but "subjects that are protestants may have arms suitable for their defense."

A gentleman who indulges in profane swearing or cursing is liable to pay five shillings for each oath; but laborers, sailors and private soldiers may give vent to their feelings at one shilling a time. Women, it would seem, may swear without incurring any legal penalty at all, so long as they do not swear in the street.

Under acts of the early Edwards the king is still entitled to take possession of any whale or sturgeon caught in British waters or east on our coasts. The old lawyers said that the head of the whale belongs to the king, the body to the finder and the tail to the queen. The reason given for her majesty's prerogative—namely, that the tail contains whalebone for the queen's wardrobe—is singularly inconclusive, as every child knows nowadays that the whalebone is in the head. The sovereign is also deemed to be the owner of wild white swans found swimming in open rivers.

Suffragets.

DAIRY

BREEDING STOCK FOR DAIRY

Cow Must Have Large Middle and Strong Constitution to Insure the Best Results.

Prof. W. J. Kennedy of the Iowa station recommends the following in reference to the selection of breeding stock for the dairy:

In selecting dairy cattle the real test must be the scales and the Babcock tester. The cow is a machine to convert food into milk, thus she must have a large middle and a strong constitution to insure the best results. She must also have a large udder, large milk wells, large crooked milk veins and good-sized teats. Her head should be clean and angular in appearance, with the eyes standing out prominently.

The neck should be rather long and lean in appearance. The shoulders pointed, and the backbone rather prominent. The skin should be loose and soft to the touch. In selecting herd bulls, either mature animals which have already demonstrated their worth as sires, or younger animals from high testing dams and sires only should be used. The best and surest results will always follow the use of mature sires which has sired heifers with good results.

A good dairy bull should be kept as long as he is a sure sire. Real good sires are so rare that when we do find one, he should die only of old age. All the breeders of dairy cattle should secure yearly tests on each and every cow in the herd. Shorter tests do not really mean very much. It is the cow that stays by her job that is really valuable.

PAIL FOR MILK IS SANITARY

Most Common Fault of Covered Receptacles Is Their Excessive Height—Avoid Dirt.

(By HERBERT A. HOPPER.)
The most common failing of the covered milk pails is excessive height. For short-legged or heavy-legged cows the pails should not be more than 12 inches high over all.

An elliptical opening is preferable to a round one covering the same number of square inches, since it is easier to milk into it. While a smaller opening may be used, one 5x7 inches and of the shape seen in the Trueman, Storrs or Loy pails, will be found practically as convenient as the ordinary open pail.

Pails which have no detachable lids are to become foul, and in which the opening permits of easy cleaning, and have their seams well flushed with solder so there are no rough edges, answer all practical sanitary requirements.

Recognizing the fact that the time of milking is the critical period in the life of milk or cream and that the covered pail and cleanly habits are important to consider as influencing the keeping properties of milk, it is always desirable to remove the milk from the stable to the milk room as soon as practical and convenient. This contributes to its length of life. Open cans or pails of milk should never be allowed to stand unprotected. Covered cans should receive the milk from the milkers and be transported to the milk room at frequent intervals. Circumstances must determine the best methods to follow. Any system that succeeds in getting the milk promptly from the cow to the milk room without contamination is good provided it is accomplished with a minimum amount of labor.

Most Profitable Cow.

Someone has said that the cow is profitable when she makes 200 pounds of butter in a year. If this is the case imagine how much could be made from a 350 or 400-pound cow, and these are by no means impossible.

Calf Pasture Is Important.

One of the most important lots on the farm is the calf pasture. The little fellows should have good care and feed in the barn and they ought to have a pasture all by themselves during the summer.

Water Is Important.

Cows will fall off in milk if water is not within easy reach. When in full flow of milk they require it is claimed, 50 per cent more water than when dry.

Brotherhood.
Brotherhood and optimism are the finest things in the world when they really express the meaning that is ordinarily ascribed to them. But there must be discrimination. There was an ideal of democratic brotherhood under the empire—an ideal held by the fierce Ghibelline poet, Dante, who wrote so beautifully, and at times so tenderly. The inconsistency between the central ideals of the middle ages and the practice of its civilization is noted in James Bryce's "Holy Roman Empire."

Some advance the mistaken ideal of brotherhood sincerely, as Dante did. There is a strong tendency in men who are well off with things as they are to preach contentment to those who are not well off. Abraham Lincoln said that the white man who sat under a tree while his black slave worked in the sun had a strong motive for supporting the doctrine that that was a good arrangement. Brotherhood is frequently preached by those who, consciously or unconsciously, have a similar motive. Perhaps the best test of whether "fraternity" is sterling or not is whether it is linked with "liberty" and "equality" or not.—Kansas City Star.

No Hope.

The Society for the Uplift of Something-Or-Other was holding a meeting in Detroit. It had been a long-winded session, with a toastmaster who summoned person after person not on the program to speak. In the audience was a little man, a stranger to the rest. He had appeared much bored, and flidgeted noticeably during the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth speeches. Then the toastmaster observed the stranger, and called upon him for an expression "upon this very important subject." The little man arose, looking at his watch as he ascended the platform. It was close to midnight. He said: "Any man who would get up here and make a speech at this time of night would need to have the cheek of a rhinoceros." Everybody applauded and thought of home. Then the little man tapped his cheek. "But I'm the man," he said.

Declaration Nearly Gone.

No manuscript copy was made of the Declaration of Independence. After the signatures had been affixed to the original, a number of copies were printed, and sent throughout the colonies. In 1832 a fac simile was made of the parchment original. The latter is preserved at Washington. Until 1894 it was on exhibition in the library of congress, but contact with the light and air worked such havoc with it that in that year the government authorities decided to store it away in a place better adapted for its preservation. The 1832 fac simile is still on public exhibition. The original parchment copy is by no means perfect, part of a printed copy having been wafered to it many years ago. Even the signature of Hancock, who wrote in a heavy hand, is scarcely visible now, and many of the names are illegible.

Bamboo Growing Advised.

According to Superintendent J. R. Beagles of the United States plant introduction garden the adaptability of California conditions for the growth of bamboo on a commercial scale has been proved beyond peradventure of doubt. Actual official measurements of bamboo growing in the open air under normal conditions at the plant introduction gardens show a timber growth among the bamboos of 17 inches in 24 hours. The bamboo could almost be seen growing. Officials at the garden say that in the growth of bamboo here there is an opportunity for practical timber conservation by obtaining a new supply. Bamboo can be used for the manufacture of furniture, piping for irrigation systems and for many other purposes.—Oroville Correspondence Portland Oregonian.

Feminine Finance.

Miss Mabel Boardman, who is the brains and energy of the National Red Cross, has a great reputation for taking money away from the big financiers of the United States. She is business through and through. Whenever she needs additional sums for the noble work of the organization, she gets on a train, visits the big cities, assembles in each town the wealthiest men and says: "I am anxious for you to raise such and such an amount. This is how it can be done." Then they go down and hand it out.—The Popular Magazine.

To Keep Matches Dry.

A novel method of carrying matches on a person in the wet without having them become soaked is described by Jack Welch in Outing. His prescription is to immerse a box of safety matches in paraffin until a solid cake is formed, out of which a match may be broken when desired. When the match is scratched the coating of "waterproof" is rubbed off its tip and also off the composition abrasive on the box, thus permitting the match to ignite. This is a simple expedient which will be sure to appeal to all woodsmen—professional or amateur.

Nut-Cracker.

Mrs. Cooke had a new servant, and after the first cake was baked, the mistress went to the kitchen. "Della," said Mrs. Cooke, "your cake was very good, but there were not enough nuts in it. When you make another please remember I like plenty of nuts in the cake." "Well, mum," replied the girl, "the reason I didn't put more in was because I couldn't crack any more today. Indeed, mum, an' my jaw hurts yer from them I did crack."—Lippincott's.

WHEN THE MAN FAILS HER

By JENNIE PROCTOR.

"You must choose between me and this man." A father stood before a daughter, black-browed, unyielding. "Oh, I cannot, father. I cannot." "You must. If this man—this scoundrel—is to be your husband, I will have nothing more to do with you. That is final, Amy."

"Father, oh, father, please! I love him. I—"

But the father had closed the door behind him. He was done. Amy Plummer, golden-haired, young beautiful, headstrong, made her choice. She left her father's house and married the man she loved—married him in the rooms of a justice of the peace. When her baby was born, Amy's happiness was almost complete. The one flaw was that her father had not yet forgiven her for her marriage to Will Page. A successful man, able-bodied, living in the midst of luxury, he was dead to his daughter's plea. He had closed the parental door against her and hers forever.

When her baby girl was two years old a storm broke over Amy's household. She never knew quite how it had happened. She had been so busy with little Evelyn. Her household duties had absorbed every vacant hour. She had so little time to see what was going on about her. Perhaps she had neglected Will. Many evenings she was too tired to notice Will's absence or his whereabouts.

But one morning the scales dropped from her eyes. Her baby was taken from her and she was cast adrift upon the world—a divorced woman. An other and more care-free woman had taken her place. Where Amy had cared for the child and had done her own work, a nurse and servants were employed. And there was nothing that Amy could do. They told her that the law had so decided things, and Amy knew nothing of the law.

In desperation, the cast-off went to a friend to borrow the money to go to another city. Often she was hungry and her clothes were ragged, thread bare. There was no work for the inexperienced hand. At last, a kindly woman gave her employment as a domestic servant. For seven years she lived thus, unknown and unmolested.

Crossing a busy street one day, an automobile dashed around the corner. Its shrill siren startled the nervous woman. She dodged first one way, then the other. The big car passed over her; then it stopped; she was lifted into the tonneau and hurried to the nearest hospital.

When the woman opened her eyes they rested upon a golden-haired girl, fashionably gowned. It was the same girl who had bidden the chauffeur stop the machine that its victim might be cared for.

"Don't try to talk, mother," said the girl. "They are bringing grandfather here. I want you to save your strength for him."

"But—you—and—father—together?" "Yes. I ran away from my father's home. I couldn't stand it, and grandfather took me in. You see, grandfather failed rapidly after you went away. I seldom leave his side now. He seems to get so much comfort from just holding my hand. For years we have searched for you. And now you must be very quiet because we want to take you—home. Grandfather needs you so."

The woman's tired eyes lifted up wonderfully and she went to sleep murmuring: "He needs me; he needs me."

By a big bay window overlooking a park, Amy Plummer Page and her daughter were standing.

"Mother, I wish you wouldn't make me learn to earn my own living. We have money, and—"

"Every girl should be able to make her own way in the world, unaided; every woman. For none knows what day she will be thrown upon her own resources. I want to teach you to care for yourself. The thing we women must learn is to put our trust in our selves, Evelyn, not in men."

Unseen by the two women, a broken old man had entered the room. His wrinkled hand rested on his daughter's arm.

"You are right, my daughter. We men fail our women, but our women never fail us. It has always been so. It will always be so. You are right; our women must learn to stand alone."

Daughter and granddaughter tenderly placed the old man in the room's most comfortable chair, with cushions and footstool. One brought him his favorite drink. The other selected one of the books that he liked best and read to him until he slept. Then both sat perfectly still watching over him, lest something should come to disturb his comfort.

And when he awoke they smiled tenderly up into his face, and asked what more they could do to brighten his hours.

Like Many Others.

A doctor, while enjoying a holiday in the country, took the opportunity along with a friend to go fishing. During the operations the doctor's sinker came off and was lost. He was in a dilemma—no sinker, no more fishing that day. Happy thought; he had a bottle in his pocket. The bottle was filled with water, carefully corked, and sent down on its mission.

After a few minutes' interval the doctor had a bite and pulled up his line at racing speed, finding a fine pair of fish, one on each hook.

"Ha, doctor, twins this time!" exclaimed his companion.
"Yes," quoth the doctor, "and brought up on a bottle, too."

The DAIRY

FOR MILK PRODUCTION

Getting Largest Yield at Least Expense Is Problem.

Adaptability of the Cows Used and Amount and Kind of Food Supplied Are Factors That Must Be Wisely Considered.

(By C. H. ECKLES.)

There are two factors which largely control the economical production of milk. One is the adaptability of the cows used for this purpose and depends upon her individual breed characteristics. The other is the amount and kind of food eaten. The problem confronting the dairyman is the production of the largest amount of milk and butter at the least expense. In order that this may be realized both the important factors mentioned must receive careful attention.

In most cases the largest direct expense is for feed. Everyone familiar with the prevailing conditions knows that a large amount of feed is used without producing the results it should. It would be safe to say that the average yearly milk production per cow could be increased by one-half or three-fourths by following better methods of feeding.

Every owner of a cow welcomes the time when the animal can be turned out to pasture. Not only is the labor and expense connected with winter feeding done away with, but each cow is expected to give the best results of the year on grass. In changing from dry feed to grass, it is best to go somewhat slowly, especially with heavy milking cows. The young, immature grade of early spring contains a large amount of water and a small amount of dry matter, and it is almost impossible for a heavy milking cow to eat enough of such feed to supply the necessary amount of nutrients. Wheat and rye pastures are of the same nature. Another reason for putting cattle on pasture gradually rather than suddenly is the effect on the taste of the milk. When a cow is changed at once from a grain ration to grass a very marked taste is developed in the milk, while if this change in feed is made gradually and not suddenly the change in the taste of the milk is scarcely noticed.

Soon after the cows are on pasture they reach the maximum production of milk for the year. This suggests what the dairyman must do in order that the production of milk may be the largest, is to imitate these summer conditions as far as possible throughout the remainder of the year. This is what the careful dairyman and skilled feeder does, and the results correspond closely to the success with which these summer conditions are maintained. The summer conditions which bring about the maximum production and which are to be maintained as far as possible through the year as described in the following statement:

1. An abundance of palatable food.
2. Balanced ration.
3. Succulent feed.
4. Moderate temperature.
5. Comfortable surroundings.

There is some difference of opinion regarding grain feeding while on pasture from the standpoint of economy.

DAIRY NOTES

The good cow deserves to be kept in comfortable surroundings.

A constant income is one of the great advantages of dairying.

There is constant improvement in the land where cows are kept.

Cleanliness is absolutely essential in the production of good milk.

And the dairy business develops fertility of the brain as well as of the soil.

Lookout for those cold rains; put the cows up. This applies to calves as well.

Feeding musty hay to milk cows is not economy. Better let the young stock have it.

The silo makes it possible for the farmer to have a green feed ration the year around.

Even when the cows are fed a full ration of silage crops they should have some grain.

There is no good argument against having plenty of light in the cow stable, but many for it.

WHY IS THE MOON?

Mass of Molten Matter Made Room for Our Oceans.

According to Learned Scientists Some 5,000,000,000 Cubic Miles of Matter Was Hurled From Earth 57,000,000 Years Ago.

For the origin of our moon Laplace's majestic nebular hypothesis needs slight modification, says the Kansas City Star. Sir George H. Darwin, in his theory of tidal evolution, traces back the earth-moon system to a hot, oblate sphere covered with a solid crust some thirty-five miles thick. This as yet moonless planet may be pictured as whirling upon itself with terrific speed in a period of five or six hours. Tides created by the sun and the acceleration of rotation caused a weakening of the centrifugal force, and at a critical point this instability overcame gravitation and some 5,000,000,000 cubic miles of molten matter was sundered from the earth and hurled outward to revolve in close proximity to the parent planet.

Now, when we scan the earth attentively for indications that may confirm this origin we are confronted with many instructive facts. Prof. W. H. Pickering has shown that if the earth be viewed from a distance in space, directly above a point 1,000 miles northeast of New Zealand, the land areas that compass this waste of waters are disposed in an almost perfect circle. This roughly circular mass, the Pacific, is more eloquent of the creation epic of our moon than written volumes.

In his inaugural address delivered at Columbia university, New York, in 1908, Prof. Albrecht F. K. Penck spoke on the geographical and geological similitude between the eastern coast of North America and the western coast of Europe, as follows:

"In a very remarkable way these two sides of the Atlantic repeat the same structural features; there is an astonishing symmetry, as Edward Suess has shown clearly. In Sweden and Finland we find the same rounded and glaciated surface, the same numerous lakes, as in Canada. It is very interesting to see how the Appalachian region ends at Newfoundland, forming the projecting eastern corner of North America, and just opposite in south Ireland, in south Wales and Cornwall and in Brittany the belt of the old Hercynian mountains of Europe begins. Marcel Bertrand maintained that we have here to deal with the two ends of one very extensive belt of mountains which extended through the north Atlantic ocean."

Commenting on this part of the lecture, Prof. Andrew H. Patterson of the University of North Carolina said: "Prof. Penck is evidently not considering this (tidal) theory at all in his lecture, and yet it seems what he has to say lends a greater probability to the theory."

That the great oceans which cover the earth are permanent in place is evident from the fact that the average height of the land above sea level is about 2,250 feet, while the average depth of the seas and ocean is 12,850 feet. Thus the average depth of the water is over six times the mean elevation of the land.

A strong argument for the permanence of the continents is the fact that no marine deposits of any geological period extend over an appreciable portion of each continent. This should have been the case if they were once covered with oceans for any length of time, and the failure of such continuity of marine fossils is proof of the immunity of the land from past submersion.

Osmond Fisher has shown that observations made with the pendulum on islands proved the suboceanic crust to be both thinner and denser than the crust under the continents. After the moon had been hurled from the present ocean basins these latter would be thinner than the continental crust, but would solidify and become compact when the water vapor in the air condensed and ran into the basins.

To the silvery orb that illumines earth's dark nights, then, we owe not only our tides, but our vast and deep oceans themselves. To her we owe also the more important continental areas on which high types of mammalia could evolve. For without the latter habitat we must ever have remained—collectively as well as individually—a very low order of mental development & rare of cold blood ed fishes, or at best amphibians. The ancient dwellers in Arcady boasted that their beaustic race came into existence before the moon herself, but they were probably ignorant of the period they claimed for their ancestry. They must needs have mounted back in time some 57,000,000 years, in which case their race would be hallowed, indeed, by prelunar antiquity.

Unconventionalities.
"Howlign, I'd ask you to go out and lunch with me, but you always make too much noise when you eat."

"I'm lending you this money, Squallop, because I can afford to lose it if you never pay me."

"Your husband is a nice lookin' man, Miz Larrikins, but he must have picked you up when it was dark."

"You wouldn't be a bad sort of fellow, Snykins, if you could break your self of the habit of buzzing a man when he wants to work."

"I think I must have met you somewhere; your face is familiar. In fact, it's too blamed familiar."

Cardinal Newman.

He bore about him the perfect humility of true greatness. His face had a strange wistfulness and his eyes seemed habitually to be gazing beyond and through the visible things of the world about him to some vision far distant and unsubstantial. There was always a sense of deep power behind his unruffled gentleness and urbanity. When he entered a room full of people, and these not undistinguished, every one else instantly seemed to become by comparison insignificant and ordinary; and this before he had spoken a word.—From "Memories" by Stephen Cole-ridge, John Lane Company, publishers.

Did Not Keep Them.

The dinner was given by a colored man named Ebenezer White, and the guest of the evening was George Washington Green, chief deacon of the little church that White occasionally attended. Grace, of course, was eloquently said, and at its conclusion Mr. White began to carve the chicken. Then Deacon Green became facetious. "Bredah White," he smilingly remarked, "do dat nex' do' neighbor ob you'n keep chickens?" "No, sah!" came the prompt response of Mr. White, as he deftly pried loose a well-roasted wing, "but he try hard 'nuf to keep 'em."

New Words.

They have been inventing some new words and phrases in Australia lately. The principal of Wesley college, Melbourne, in the course of a paper read before the Australian Association for the Advancement of Science, said that Australian girls were too fond of giving the "look of encouragement" to casual young fellows. This is somewhat like "glad eye." The secretary of the Melbourne Y. M. C. A. appeals to the members to "confront our difficulties and problems with undiscourageable optimism."

The Elephant's Trunk.

According to Mr. Kiplin, the elephant obtained his trunk because the crocodile in the Limpopo river gave him his "bulzy nose" a mighty pull. The explanation given by Professor Woodward at the Royal Institution is that the elephant, originally a small animal, found its legs gradually increasing in length, and as the neck did not, it was forced to grow a trunk to reach its food. The scientific version may be correct, but we prefer that given in the "Just-so Stories."

Big Seating Capacity.

Nearly 13,000 people could be accommodated in the ancient Roman theater at Dorchester, England. It was carefully designed to prevent the patrons having the sun in their eyes. There were in fact "good views from every seat in the house." The theater at Dorchester was used comparatively recently for a public spectacle and in 1705 over 10,000 spectators gathered there to witness the burning alive of a woman who had poisoned her husband.

Vanity.

There is a stirring of the body. People are breaking down under the tyranny of material possessions. There never was a time when women's intelligence was so eager and inspirational; never a time when men were so weary of metal and meals and miles. It is all clear to a prophetic understanding that we are nearing the end of our lessons in three dimensions and five senses.

TROOPS GUARD ROME

Prevent Demonstration Between Rival Factions.

Anti-Clericals and Catholics Near to Clash—Cardinal Tuto
Is Dead.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Police, carabinieri and troops guarded the streets here while the Catholic athletes heard mass and were received by the pope.

The great parade that had been planned was prohibited by the police on account of threatened reprisals by the anti-clericals. Notwithstanding the strictest measures to insure order, a few scuffles occurred amid cries from the Catholics of "Long live the pope!"
to which the anti-clericals responded by shouting, "Long live free thinking!"

Four hours were occupied by the athletes in reaching St. Peter's, where they unfurled flags and passed into the court of San Damaso. They knelt when the pope appeared on the balcony surrounded by the pontifical court.

The athletes, pilgrims and others in the assembly numbered 8,000, and after the apostolic benediction had been imparted they arose and gave a triple hurrah. The pontiff inquired regarding the obstacles which had been placed in the way of the demonstration, and urged extreme prudence.

Cardinal Joseph Calasanzio Vives
y Tuto, prefect of the congregation for religious affairs, is dead. Recently he had undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Cardinal Vives y Tuto was born at San Andrea de Lliavaneras, diocese of Barcelona, in 1864. He was created and proclaimed cardinal June 19, 1899.

The cardinal acquired a prominent position at the Vatican after the election of Pope Pius X. and had even been considered as a probable candidate for the succession.

The pope was deeply affected when told of the cardinal's death and exclaimed: "I have lost one of my best friends, the church one of its greatest supports."

8 AUTO VICTIMS IN DAY

Two Killed When Train Is Hidden by a Corn Field.

Cayuta, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Eight persons killed was the nation's toll to the automobile on Sunday.

Engine J. Connelly of Springs Corners, N. Y., and his two daughters, Phoebe and Carolyn, were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Lehigh Valley train at Cayuta, half-way between Elmira and Ithaca. Mrs. Connelly suffered probably fatal injuries.

Near Fremont, Ohio, a Wheeling and Lake Erie passenger train struck an automobile in which seven persons were riding. Mrs. George Gleckler and her son, Clarence were killed.

Two men were killed and one was seriously injured when a Washington and Old Dominion train crashed into an automobile at Home's Crossing, Va., near the District of Columbia line.

Robert A. Goodwin, four years old, son of John Goodwin, Jr., of Springfield, Ill., was run down and instantly killed by an automobile driven by Fred H. Mayer, a grocer. Mayer was held on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

SAYS HE WAS OVERWORKED

Engineer of New Haven Train Says
He Did Double Labor.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 8.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is to be made "the safest railroad in the United States," Howard Elliot, its newly elected head, declared in a statement, sequential to the closing day of the interstate commerce commission's investigation into the death-dealing North Haven wreck of last Tuesday.

All sleeping cars will be of steel before January 1. Orders also have been given, he said, to rush work on the new signal system to replace the old "banjo" type, charged with the responsibility for the North Haven wreck.

The interstate commerce commission hearing developed testimony by

Engineer Miller of the White Mountain express, which collided with the Bar Harbor train, that he had done two men's duty during the week previous to the catastrophe.

CAPITAL WEDDING NOV. 25

Mrs. Wilson Announces Date of Daughter's Ceremony.

Windsor, Vt., Sept. 8.—The date of the wedding of Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis Sayre has been announced by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson through her secretary, Isabella Hag-ner.

The date will be Tuesday, November 25, and the ceremony will take place in the White House in Washington. Mr. Sayre has been at the summer "white house" in Cornish,
N. H., for the last week.

Archbald, Labor Leader, Dies.
New York, Sept. 8.—John P. Archbald, widely known as a labor leader, died at his home here. He was sixty years old and was formerly president of the Brotherhood of Decorators and Painters of America.

Shuman Name Goes to Senate.
Washington, Sept. 8.—The appointment of Irving Shuman of Sullivan, Ill., as subtreasurer in Chicago, was sent to the senate by President Wilson.

Brazil Wants Japanese.
While the Japanese immigrant is undesirable on our Pacific coast, other countries, foremost among them the thriving republic of Brazil, is extending to him the hand of welcome.
Le Bresil Economique of Rio de Janeiro of a recent date notes the arrival at Santos of 1,506 Japanese immigrants. They will be sent to the interior to be employed as agricultural laborers. That paper also announces that a society has been formed for the encouragement of Japanese immigration for the founding of colonies for the cultivation of rice and other cereals. This society also proposes to encourage by these immigrants the culture of tea and the production of silk. The first of these Japanese colonies will be established in the fertile valleys of the Iguape river in the state of Sao Paulo.

Signs Show Wares for Sale.

An Indian custom which adds a picturesque touch to the roadshows between Cuzco and Machu Picchu, in Peru, is the presence of quaint signs indicating what is for sale in the Indian huts. A small bunch of wheat or barley tied on the end of a pole and stuck out in front of the hut indicates that there is chicha (a native corn beer) for sale within. A bunch of flowers on the end of a pole also has the same significance. A green wreath means that there is bread for sale, while a piece of white cloth or white paper waving in the breeze indicates that the wayfarer may here purchase aguardiente, a powerful white rum made of cane juice and containing a large percentage of raw alcohol.

Cause of "Cracks."

The tissues of the body have more salts than are usually found in fresh water. When you have more salt on one side of an animal membrane than on the other, nature tries to equalize the amount on both sides. Salts, leaving the tissues of the hands to go into the water, leave the cells partly emptied of their contents.
They do not hold together well, and "cracks" result.—St. Nicholas.

JAP MOB CRIES FOR CHINA WAR

Mob Storms Foreign Office—
Asks Troops Be Sent Against China.

U. S. IS ALSO ASSAILED

Seek Revenge for Killing of Troops at Nanking — Uprising Directed Against Diplomatic Position of Empire.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—On Sunday a dramatic chapter was written in the history of Japan. The assassination of Morihiro Abe, director of the political bureau of the Japanese foreign office, has inflamed the masses.

Fifteen thousand persons gathered in mass meeting in Hibiya park, calling for military action against China. A majority of these marched to the foreign office and clamored for admission. They demanded the dispatch of troops to China to take such measures as were necessary to obtain satisfaction for the killing of Japanese at Nanking, or, failing this, the resignation of the minister of foreign affairs, Baron Nobuaki Makino.

The speakers denounced the emptiness of Japanese diplomacy in connection with California and China, and insisted the insult to the Japanese flag at Nanking should be wiped out. The manifestation was clearly an explosion of popular resentment against the ministry in its treatment of the California and Chinese questions.

Soldiers Keep Away.

Profiting by the lessons of riots which followed the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan, the government reduced the risk of violence by refusing to allow a single soldier or policeman at the scene. The manifestations, many of whom were students, were orderly during the early part of the proceedings.

A score of agitators, including a girl, decried Japanese diplomacy and declared it had never contributed to the upbuilding of the empire and had always ended in failure. The incidents in China were unbearable.

Suddenly the cry to march on the foreign office was raised and there was a general stampede, many persons barely escaping being crushed. The crowds surged through the streets, headed by the gesticulating leaders, and reached the foreign office to find the high iron gates were locked.

Gates Are Stormed.

Scores of the demonstrators pounded on the gates and called for them to be opened, but in vain. The underofficials refused. A delegation was appointed, the members of which climbed the gates, and then caused a long parley.

Meanwhile the crowd was cheerful but determined. It showered compliments on a beautiful geisha girl struggling in a jinriksha, but angrily stoned a photographer seeking to take snapshots of the chief delegate, who, having returned, mounted the portals to report progress. Perched unsteadily on the pickets he made a fantastic picture, and in harsh harangue declared the committee demanded either the dispatch of troops or the retirement of the foreign minister.

"We told the officials," he shouted, "the voice of the people speaks, that the agitation will never end until our demands are granted."

The extraordinary situation continued for five hours, the delegates emerging periodically to pacify the crowd. Finally, when the discussion ended, they reported Baron Makino had promised to receive them September 15. This was greeted with howls of derision and a thousand marched to the foreign minister's residence, three miles distant. Police, however, prevented their near approach.

Another massmeeting was called for Sunday night at the Young Men's Christian association hall.

CAR ALMOST KILLS WILSON

Officer Saves President From Harm at Capital.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Had it not been for the presence of mind of a policeman, President Wilson might have been run over by a street car here.

The president, accompanied by his physician, Dr. Cary Grayson, had been out for a short walk and was returning to the White House. Unmindful of the traffic regulations which forbid pedestrians from crossing the street except at crossings, they had started diagonally across.

Just as they were crossing the tracks a trolley car came along at a lively clip. A policeman, seeing the possibility of an accident to the president, jumped in front of the car with both hands upraised. The motorman brought the car to a stop less than ten feet from the president and Doctor Grayson.

Run Down by Launch; Drown.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—Garner Peterson, a gardener at Lake Minnetonka, the summer home of many Minneapolis and southern people, was drowned when the row boat which he was rowing was run down by a gasoline launch operated by Philip Pomeroy, son of a Minneapolis banker.

Evenrude Row-Boat Motor

This is an exceedingly small compact 2 horse power gasoline motor which can be attached instantly to the stern of a row boat. It will drive an ordinary row boat from five to eight miles an hour depending on the model of the boat. The motor is exceedingly simple.

It makes boating a great pleasure.
